Scores of Barre Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this, the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow. Urinary troubles, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Barre people endorse our claim.

L. H. Hooker, 101 Prospect street, Barre, Vt., says: "Since I first used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago, I have recommended them to at least fifty people and have heard everyone who has used them give them a word of praise. I suffered for a long time from kidney complaint and my condition finally became so serious that I was worried."

My back ached most of the time and an annoying kidney weakness existed. I used every remedy that was brought to my attention, but without deriving any benefit until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Dr. Brown's drug store. At that time I used five boxes and was benefited in a wonderful manner. I have since taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on, and they have acted as a tonic to my kidneys, keeping these organs in a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McLure Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BETHEL.

Village Is Threatened with an Ice Famine.

As ice famine seems to be near, at hand for Bethel people. At Lake Ansel, repairs were made on the dam late in the season, and for convenience of the workmen the water was drawn very low. Late in the winter, after the thaw, the lake filled and in February froze to the depth of 14 inches, which was immediately followed by heavy snow storms and warm weather, which caused the snow to melt and put from 6 to 14 inches of water and slush on the surface, which has remained on the ice since that time, notwithstanding all efforts to dispose of it. The heavy rain of Sunday night reduced the thickness and caused the ice to become porous, and at this writing the prospect of Lake Ansel ice for this season is very discouraging. In the meantime, all are putting in time and effort to procure some river ice, which will be used for cooling purposes only.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CARL SCHOFIELD, Special Correspondent.

A piece of wood about three feet in length and an inch and a half in diameter which was sawed from some of the timber of historic old Long bridge, across the Potomac river, near this city, was the present received by General Isaac R. Sherwood, representative from the Toledo (O.) district, a few days ago. The donor was B. F. Howard of Guilford, Miss., a member of the Eighth Ohio artillery during the civil war and a native of the Buckeye State.

Cane From Long Bridge.

Mr. Howard accompanied his present with a lengthy letter, in which he related considerable history of the old Long bridge. The timber rapidly disappeared when the viaduct was finally torn down to make room for a new steel bridge, and what little remains at this day is prized very highly. The cane sent General Sherwood was cut from the supports of the bridge.

Mr. Howard said in writing: "This is not presented as a 'big stick' to be wielded in authority or as a memento, but as a silent reminder that the feet that once pressed the planks of the old Long bridge, supported by the uprights and brace of which this is a piece, have by a great majority now crossed the silent river flowing through a dark valley, forming the great divide between the known and the unknown. This great army, before which the soldiers of any nation might have retreated that day without disgrace or kings have stood with heads uncovered, comes back to us now in memory only."

Historic Old Bridge.

The old Long bridge was the route traversed by the million or more Union soldiers who participated in the great jubilee and parade in Washington just after the war closed. At that time it was the only route by which the broad Potomac might be crossed, and it was also used by the thousands of soldiers who went to the war from the north Atlantic and New England states. The site of the historic structure is unmarked, but visitors at the national capital in their rounds of the places of interest rarely miss viewing the spot.

Pay of Representatives.

When you ask why this or that representative is here there is little chance for mistake in the reason given. With mighty few exceptions members of the lower house are here because they had a chance to come. The pay of a representative is $7,500, and able as this or that representative may be, $7,500 is pretty good pay.

Also each representative draws $125 a month with which to provide himself a secretary. The representative draws it, you notice, not the secretary. There was one representative from the west who made no secret of it that he lived on the $125 a month, being his own secretary, and sailed down the $7,500 untouched.

The Secretary's Stipend.

The representatives when they draw this $125 a month sign a statement that the money is to be used as pay for their secretary. This is mentioned merely in passing. Most of the secretaries get the full amount drawn by their representatives—or a good many do. Yet the secretaries would like to be on the payroll for this amount, payable to themselves, and they have been trying for years to get there.

If they got on the payroll—and congress has never consented to put them there—they would be sure of getting the $125 a month they are supposed to get. Clerks of senate committees (and each senator has a committee) are on the payroll.
